REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE.

The West Virginia Republican State Committee will meet at Parkersburg, February 14, at 7 o'clock p. m., to fix a time and place of holding the state convention to elect delegates and alternates to the national nominating convention at Louis. W. M. O. DAWSON, General Harrison's Letter.

General Harrison's letter declaring that he is not in the presidential race, has no desire to be in it and desires his friends to leave him out of it, cannot surprise any of his friends. In the letter he takes the same position he has taken in private letters and conversa-

This position he takes so squarely and unequivocally that there is no room to suspect any mental reservation that could modify the force of the declaration. General Harrison wishes to be left out of any and all calculations concorning the presidency.

His friends in his own state put on his utterance the only interpretation that could do General Harrison credit. As much as they regret his stand, they will respect his wishes. Indiana will not present General Harrison to the national convention, but will make her choice among the strong men outside

The letter of General Harrison is welcomed by the aspirants and their friends as clearing the atmosphere considerably, for until General Harrison was heard from as he has been there were factors in the problem which could not be figured on with any degree of definiteness.

The contrast was so striking between the Harrison administration and the one that came before it, as well as the one that has come after it, it had so many positive elements of strength not sary to be brought out by comparison, that the head of that administration was naturally in the mind of his party as always a possible presidential quantity.

General Harrison alone could place himself outside of the calculations, and this he has done as emphatically as a clear perception on his own part and a forceful use of words can do it.

The Free Silver Party.

As it is represented in Congress the Democratic party is a free silver party, a bob to the Populist kite. This was shown in the senate in the vote which free silver was hitched on to the bond bill. It is shown again in the vote on that bill as it came back to the house. Every Republican on the ways and means committee voted against the free silver bill. Two Democrats voted with the Republicans. Twice that many Democrats voted for free silver.

The same story is told with even more force in the action of the senate finance committee. By the unanimous action of the Democrats of that committee, Jones, from the silver mining camp Nevada, acting with them, the tariff bill is reported to the senate with free silver rider. The two proposia free silver rider. The two proposi-tions are quite distinct, but the Democrats of the finance committee have found a way to hitch them together.

The Republican silver senators, so far as heard from, refuse to be pulled into this tomfoolery. They insist that slive and the tariff shall be treated separate They insist that sliver ly. They are in favor of providing the treasury with revenue, whether they can bring about the free coinage of silver or not. The free silver Democrats. knowing that their ism cannot prevail, use it to make sure that the treasury shall have no more revenue than it can get under the Wilson tariff.

These proceedings are very instructive, and the country will not miss the point of them. The national treasury and the national industries will continue to go on crutches until the people shall have completed the restoration to power of the party which knows how to give to both good legs to stand on.

West Virginia at Chaffanoogi

In the hard fighting about Chattanooga West Virginia was represented by the Fourth Infantry, which sustained a heavier loss, we believe, than any other regiment engaged there. Almost every other state has commemorated, or has taken steps to commemorate with a sultable monument or mon uments, the gallantry of its troops on the memorals fields included within Chickamauga Military Park. North and south have joined in this patriotic movement There is no distinction.

West Virginia is among the very few states that have done nothing in this behalf. The probable reason is that the matter has not been taken up. In another column the Intelligencer prints some interesting correspondence on the subject. The matter will be laid before the next legislature, and that body will appreciate the propriety of setting up a suitable monument to the memory of Substantial and sightly monuments have been erected at a cost of $1,000 each and less. It is not necessary that the memorial shall represent a large expenditure of money. It is enough that it shall tell its story. West Virginia will esteem it a privilege to tell to the coming generations, through these epics of granite and bronze, of the part she took on that field of American

Fifty Years of Progress.

The Intelligencer is indebted to a valued friend in London, Mr. Craxden Powell, a gentleman of prominence in the ranks of the Liberal party, for the receipt of two very interesting issues of that excellent and highly readable journal, the London Daily News, issued respectively January 21, 1846 and January 21, 1896—a whole half century apart -the former being a fac simile of the first isue of the News, and the latter an anniversary number fifty years later.

Not long since Mr. Gladstone remarked, in answer to some congratulations tendered him on the occasion of his attainment of three score years of public service, that it was perhaps a fact that his public life had covered the greatest legislative period in English history. If this was true in his case, then the News can claim to have covered at least a full half century of the same remarkable period.

The American people can never cease to feel a deep interest in the history of this newspaper. It was the English friend, par excellence, of the Union cause throughout our struggle and did great service in educating British sentiment correctly as regards the true nature of the conflict, and holding a Tory govern ment from giving effective aid the Confederacy.

The London Daily News was started in 1846 as a new departure in English journalism. In other words, as a re-form journal; as an advocate of Liberal ideas at home and abroad; as an oppo-nent of all sorts of disabilities, Catholic, Irish or Dissenter, which had their roots in the prejudices of race or reli-gion. It stood for greater freedom in Ireland; for a wider distinction be-tween church and state everywhere; for an extension of the suffrage; for a repeal of the corn laws; for the ideas of Cobden and the Manchester school; and it was conspicuous in holding up the hands of one reform minister after other, from Sir Robert Peel to Mr. Gladstone.

Its career has been a great succession of triumphs, such as any journal may well be proud of, and certainly all Americans, who recall its services from 1861 to 1865, will join with its home constituency in tendering congratulations and good wishes.

The one triumph on which the News more especially prides itself is the re-peal of the corn laws, in the year of its birth, and the subsequent complete "emancipation of British trade" from the shackles of protective legislation." As to this triumph, the American people have never presumed to sit in judg ment on it. They have never denied. and most of them never doubted, that it was a good thing to repeal the ' laws" and make bread cheaper for the English poor. All that they have presumed to deny was that an English policy of trade should necessarily be an American policy. The situation here and in England was not similar and therefore the same kind of legislation was not called for. England needed, and must have, cheap brgad, and cheap raw materials—hence her new departure at a late day-whereas we, setting out to run the race before us, and having all these advantages in our favor, did not propose to follow the example of those who had them not, but rather to employ our own labor on our own soil, at more remunerative rates, in developing our own re-

England was rich and great in 1846, and we may admit is still richer and greater to-day, on account of free trade, if you please, but not so prosperous, man for man, as this country; and after all this, so far as we are concerned, is the true test, the prosperity of the individual,, his ability to compass a better living in the one country than in the other

Upon this point, however, we have no desire to raise an issue with our London friend nor his excellent paper, but only to point out that the supremest triumph of its fifty years is not at variance with the American idea of what is best for this country. We may finally come, as England finally came, to the free trade idea, but it will be for substantially the same reasons when it occurs, viz., inability to supply ourselves with the cheap bread necessary to feed cheap labor, and also the same inability to supply raw material in sufficient amount for the production of cheap goods.

we can agree to disagree on this point, and divide the world of trade between us, as best we can; we, at all events, retaining our own incomparable home market and re-establishing reciprocity treaties with those who wish to trade with us on terms mutually advanta-

Lynched the Wrong Man.

Down in Tennessee they have disyears ago was innocent of the crime for which the mob fury took his life. Of course they would be glad to give back that life, but it is beyond their control.

Also of course they thought they had the right man when they lynched him. They would not have lynched an innocent man if they had believed him to be innocent. There is nothing to do about t Mistakes will happen, even in the regulated lynchings conducted with the best motives.

It was hard on the innocent victim of mob vengeance, but he is not at hand to complain. Having no existence he has no rights, but there was a time when he had rights. It is an unfortunate affair, but it will have to stand as it is, It is just a freak of our civilization.

President Cleveland now and then writes a letter for publication. there is a letter which he has not written. It is the one saying that he is not a candidate for another nomination and does not wish his name used in this connection. Such a letter could be written in a few moments, but Mr. Cleveland has not found the few mo ments.

THE STATE CAPITAL,

Politics Booming in the Kanawha Region-Democratic Scheme to Create Dis-sensions Among Republicans-Atkinson

lal Dispatch to the Intelligencer

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 4.-Apparently no interest in matters political is being felt in Democratic circles here, but appearances are some times deceifful. It is probably true that no one is wild enough to imagine it possible for the Democratis to carry Kanawha, but it does not follow that desperate measures will not be taken in the hope of reducing the Republican majority as much as possible and thus affect results in the compressional and senatorial districts, if not in the state. With this object in view efforts will probably be made to stir up dissension in the Republican camp over local nominations and recent developments lead to the suspicion that work on this line has already been begun.

The nomination for the county clerkship is the principal bone of contention at present and the fight is already becoming interesting. Whether Democratic manipulation is playing any part in this, is not known, as a certainty, but it is strongly suspected, and Republicans, being forewarned, will govern themselves accordingly, as they realize that they cannot afford to jeopardize almost certain success by family quarrels.

they realize that they cannot afford to jeopardize that they cannot afford to jeopardize that they cannot afford to jeopardize almost certain success by family quarrels.

In a general way the party is probably in better shape at present than at any time in its history and if good judgment prevails, the probabilities are that the majority given in 1894 will be increased next November. More than usual interest is felt in the coming campalga and numerous accessions from the Democratic ranks are reported. The county committee is already in the harness and an agressive fight will be made from the start.

Judge Brown has not yet expressed himself as to the gubermatorial boom which his free sliyer friends are seeking to start for him. It is said that an effort will be made to organize a club to push his claims, but it is not likely that the Republicans of Kanawha will commit themselves to the financial views upon which his proposed candidacy is based. The sentiment is practically unanimous in favor of Hon. G. W. Atkinson and the vote of Kanawha will almost certainly be cast for him. And it may be added that if nominated, he will receive many Democratic votes in his nacive county, as he has a wonderful hold upon the people here, regardless of their party affiliations.

Among the candidates for deligate to the St. Louis convention, the name of Major J. E. Dana is prominently mentioned. He is one of Charleston's most substantial citizens and has been identified with the party, and its best interests for many years. Septiment is favorable to Elkhus or McKinley, as the presidential nomines and this seen identified with the party, and its best interests for many years. Septiment is favorable to Elkhus or McKinley, as the presidential nomines and this seen identified with the party, and its best interests for many years. Septiment well personified by Major Dana. However, there are other would mar it acceptably and gaacefully. Hon, J. R. Koontz, of Fayette, has announced himself as a candidate and worthy and deserving Republicans who would not object to the bonor and who would mar it acceptably and gracefully. Hon, J. R. Koontz, of Fayette, has announced himself as a candidate and Rev. C. H. Fayne and Senator T. P. Davis, of the same county, bave also been mentioned. Senator George W. Patton has also been spaken of.

Hon, John Cooper and Thomas G. Mann are talked of as congressional candidates. However, Kanawha will be solidly in favor of Hon, James H. Huling for a second term.

In Democratic circles General C. C. Watta is mentioned as a gubernatorial possibility, but he has not expressed himself as Cavorable to the proposition. The impression secons to prevail that candidates on the Democratic ticket will have a "rocky road to travel," and it does not seem likely that there will be any unseemly scramble for the nominations this year. Bob Carr's fatish in Democratic success is unshaken, however, and he will go into the race for the auditorship for all he is worth.

The Senate Silver Bill.

WASHINGTON. D. C., Feb. 4.—The expected action on the senate substitute for the senate bond bill was taken up by the committee on ways and means to-day. The bill was brought up in the committee meeting and Mr. Crisp moved that the committee recommend to the house to concur in the senate amendments. On the vote all of the Republicans present voted "No" and so did two Democrats.

There was no discussion of the measure and the committee instructed Chair-

There was no discussion of the meas-ure and the committee instructed Chair-man Dingley to report the recommen-dation to mon-concur to the house at once. The bill will be brought up in the house as soon as the District of Colum-bia appropriation bill now under debate is finished.

I gave him powerful nerve tonics and blood remedies, but to no purpose. As an experiment I finally bought a fity-cent package of Stuart's Dyspensia Tablets at a drug store and gave them to him. Almost immediate relief was given and after he had used four boxes he was to all appearances fully cured.

There was no more acidity or sour watery risings, no bloating after meals, the appetite was vigorous and he has gained between ten and twelve pounds in weight of solid, healthy fiesh.

Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are advertised and sold in drug stores, yet I consider them a most valuable addition to any physician's line of remedies, as they are perfectly harmless and can be given to children or invalids or in any condition of the stomach with perfect safety, being harmless and containing nothing but vegetiable and fruit essences, pure pepsin and Golden Seal.
